CAPACITY BUILDING WORKSHOPS FOR NON-PROFITS ARE AVAILABLE THROUGH THE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT

The Community Development Department announces its schedule of Capacity Building Workshops-Capacity Builds L.A.-2008. These information packed sessions are designed to enhance the knowledge base for those who run non-profit organizations, and teach those interested in starting a non-profit everything they need to know for a successful operation.

“We need as many people as possible to take advantage of this great opportunity. Not only will they be helping themselves, but also they will be bringing much needed resources to our low-income communities,” said Maricela Hernandez.

This is the third series of Capacity Building Workshops offered by the Community Development Department. They were conceived as a means of assisting organizations that depend on public funds to learn survival skills as public funds have dwindled and the needs of clients have grown. The classes will include helpful information on a variety of subjects, such as marketing your organization, fundraising skills and strategies, how to keep your non-profit on track and out of trouble and much more.

For more information see the attached schedule and visit the Community Department’s website at <http://www.lacity.org/CDD/> and click on CDD’s homepage.
