GARCETTI FLICKS SWITCH FOR SAFETY

With Atwater Village residents and local business owners looking on, Councilmember Eric Garcetti flicked the switch Monday on a brand new traffic light at the corner of Glendale Boulevard and Madera Avenue.

“Today we’re giving traffic and pedestrian safety the green light,” said Garcetti. “There have been too many close calls at this intersection.” In the recent past, multiple serious but non-fatal accidents have occurred in this intersection. In one, a senior citizen in a wheelchair was injured crossing the street, and another where a 17-year old boy was struck by a car and nearly killed. “Today we’re giving traffic and pedestrian safety the green light.”

“I feel a lot better about this intersection now,” said Jeff Gardner, an Atwater Village resident and business owner who attended the inauguration of the traffic light. “It feels safer, and that makes Glendale Boulevard feel like a nicer place to spend time and relax.”
